

THE NAUVOO NEIGHBOR

ESTABLISHED AND PUBLISHED WEEKLY

BY

Editor and Proprietor

At the corner of Water and Main Streets,

Nauvoo, Hancock County, Ill.

Subscription price, $1.00 per annum in advance.

Advertisements, as usual.

Letters must be addressed to the Editor.

John Taylor, Postman, to receive notices.

PERILOUS BALLOON ADVENTURE.

Balloon Lost and Found.—We learn from the Halloway Register, that Mr. John Wise, the celebrated aeronaut who on Monday morning last, at 11 o'clock, ascended in his balloon, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

about 10 miles per hour, and was

seen at the rate of about 10 miles

per hour, and was seen at the rate of

of the tomb, and flatters us with the involvement and immortality of love.

THE MILL BOY.

Park Benjamin, in his late life of Henry Clay, says that when he was a youth, "he would throw a bag upon a horse, containing three, four, five or six of what he called, "the bags," and go to mill, get the grain ground, and come home again."

How wonderful! Henry Clay, the great Statesman, when a boy knew how to throw a bag upon a horse—possibly—mount the bag—handy enough—a scholar—the great ground with striking abilities—and return home again—Oh! what astonishing mental developments—it is the great wonder in this wonder-working world, that this wonderful genius ever gave up into childhood. What wonderful! what remarkable energy!

What deep penetration! Who could find a bag on a horse, go to mill, and throw it in a way of safe performance to the U. S. Presidency.

Another prophet.—The last prophet which has arisen is—Key, a German, said to be from Pittsburgh, who has taken up his residence in Columbia, Ohio, and is, in his own words, an "independent" and "impartial" columnist. He is said to be a "free thinker," and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

and "a man of letters."

He is said to be a "man of letters,"

ident, Gen. Currie. Of course there was no business doing. The vessels port retained their cargoes on board.

THE RIVERS.

Thursday Morning.—The water continues to rise with alarming rapidity.

We are now, undoubtedly, being visited by one of the most disastrous floods that has ever occurred in the Mississippi Valley. We learn from the Captain of the Mingo Park, which arrived on Wednesday evening, from the Illinois, that the river is now higher than it has ever been known to be, since 1845.

The present average width, from Peoria to the mouth is judged to be at least eight miles; causing immense damage to buildings, and a great loss of property. At this place, the water has risen several feet since our last report,

submerging not only our entire levee, but

a great portion of Second street—overflowing the floors of a number of the stores

several inches; and in a few instances

where the floors are laid on the street,

the occupants have been obliged to remove their stocks.

At 12 o'clock, noon.—The river has risen to the height of 6 o'clock this morning.

The city is now in a state of alarm.

The water is now at least eight miles wide, causing immense damage to buildings, and a great loss of property. At this place, the water

has risen several feet since our last report,

submerging not only our entire levee, but

a great portion of Second street—over-

flowing the floors of a number of the stores

several inches; and in a few instances

where the floors are laid on the street,

the occupants have been obliged to remove their stocks.

At 12 o'clock, noon.—The river has risen

to the height of 6 o'clock this morning.

The city is now in a state of alarm.

The water is now at least eight miles

wide, causing immense damage to buildings, and a great loss of property. At this place, the water

has risen several feet since our last report,

submerging not only our entire levee, but

a great portion of Second street—over-

flowing the floors of a number of the stores

several inches; and in a few instances

where the floors are laid on the street,

the occupants have been obliged to remove their stocks.

At 12 o'clock, noon.—The river has risen

to the height of 6 o'clock this morning.

The city is now in a state of alarm.

The water is now at least eight miles

wide, causing immense damage to buildings, and a great loss of property. At this place, the water

has risen several feet since our last report,

submerging not only our entire levee, but

a great portion of Second street—over-

flowing the floors of a number of the stores

several inches; and in a few instances

where the floors are laid on the street,

the occupants have been obliged to remove their stocks.

At 12 o'clock, noon.—The river has risen

to the height of 6 o'clock this morning.

The city is now in a state of alarm.

The water is now at least eight miles

wide, causing immense damage to buildings, and a great loss of property. At this place, the water

has risen several feet since our last report,

submerging not only our entire levee, but

a great portion of Second street—over-

flowing the floors of a number of the stores

several inches; and in a few instances

where the floors are laid on the street,

the occupants have been obliged to remove their stocks.

At 12 o'clock, noon.—The river has risen

to the height of 6 o'clock this morning.

The city is now in a state of alarm.

The water is now at least eight miles

wide, causing immense damage to buildings, and a great loss of property. At this place, the water

has risen several feet since our last report,

submerging not only our entire levee, but the American bottom and Illinois town are entirely covered, the water being from six to eight feet deep in most places.

A flat boat ferry has been established between the opposite bank and Pea-rhoe. Yesterday one of the ferry boats was long towed in the Mississippi valley, and landed at the mouth of the river, some

