Extra Manazurez.—By the N. Y. Sun. we learn that Gen. James Arlington Bennett, of Arlington House, Long Island, has issued a "feclor" to the President of Tenss, to know on what condition he may locate 5.000 troops in that nation, and signs' himself, "James Arlington Bennett Inspector and Major General Nauroo Legion."

(5.7 In the first place, more than a year ago, Gen. Bennett sent his resignation to the Commander of the Legion, which was accepted by the Court Marrial. In the next place there is no such officer in the Nauroo Legion, as "Inspector and Major General". The only one hat has any resemblance, is the "Adjunt and Inspector General," according to the revised laws of said Legion, and that is now, and always has been filled by Hugh MFell, a worthy citizen of Inspecke county. We care not how many men fight for Texns. if they will let the Nauroo Legion, alone; that has bothing to do with Texas. Peace gentlemen!

The Marion (Miss.) paper contains the particulars of a most dreadful occurrence in that place. It says:

A Mr. Fisher had put up a brick yard near the town of Marion, on what he supposed public land; and after he had made a considerable quantity of bricks, ready for burning, it was discovered that the land belonged to some person in Georgia, who spointed a Mrs. Shummcher his agent Mrs. S. ordered Fisher from the land, und refused to let him move the brick. She notified Fisher, in writing, that he must quit the premises, to which Fisher replaced that he would die first, and proceeded to settle up his little matters. Mrs. Shumacher made her will. On the 6th instant, Fisher and his two sons, on one side, Mrs. Shumacher and her husband on the other, all lleavily armed with guins and pistols, repaired to the orick-yard. It seems that the Fishers arrived first, and on the arrival of the other party, the battle took place. It is said that Mr. Shumacher fired the first gon, which was succeeded by a general firing from both parties, in which Mrs. Shumacher was mortally, and Southey Fisher dangerously, wounded.—Eight guns were fired, and two shot by Mrs. Shumacher herself, she lived about twelve or thirteen hours after about twelve or thirteen hours after your father and I commenced, I had nothing but a dish kittle. I used to boil my coffee in it and poor that into

it and set them on a warm plate, while I stewed up the meat in it. I used to milk in it—and always after a meal I

The First Steam Boxt.—She excited the astonishment of the inhabitants on the shore of the Hudson, many of whom had mover heard of an engine, much less of a steam boat. She was described by some, who had distinctly seen her pals in the hight, as a monster moving on the waters, defying the tide, and breathing flames and smokel. Her volumes of smoke and free, by night, attracted the attention of the crews of other vessels. Notwithstanding the wind and tide were adverse to its progress, they saw, with astonishment, that it was rapidly approaching them; and when it came say near that the noise of the machinery and paddles was heaved, the crew, in some instances, sunk beneath the deck from the terrific sight, and left their vessels to go on sone, while others prostrated themselves, and besought Providence to protect them from the approaching its path by the fire it vomitted! All this took place, not in regions explored by 'Sinbad, the Sallor', but on the river Hudson, thirty-seven years ago.
