The following communication comes from a way-faring man, who stopped a short time in Springfield, scoped a short time in Springfield, to watch the inovenients of the "head of Illinois."

The Springfield, Jan. 34, 1845

Mr. Lictior,

Dear Six.—Xou may feel some district of the street of the stree

It has been discovered, that a large period of this debt, as for money borrowed, for internal improvements of the State of Himois. It has been discovered, that there is no integnal improvement in this State, that is bringing one dollards worth of revenue to the State; another descreys is inevitable, that the annual interest of the State, inother descreys is inevitable, that the annual interest of the State debt is about $700,000!

The pressur revenue of the State, is not sufficient to pay, the net expenditure of the State gold is increasing. Seven hundred thoraunt dollars yearly! These are old things, that I am alraid Str, will mayer be doing way.

Syen hundred thousand dollars yearly! These are old things, that 4, an alraid Sir, will never be doito Away.

Now, to some of the new products that seems to be engrossing the spirit of the dreams of the members of the Legislature, there you have it:

*A Bill Joe on Act to provide for paying a paying a paying of the Easter of the State dollar.

*That there she'fe be assessed and collected for State purposes for the year 1846, three mills on each dollar's wortheof property.

*That there is the purposes for the year 1846, three mills on each dollar's wortheof property, and for the year 1847, and for ever thereafter, until otherwise provided by law, tour mills on each dollar's worth of property and for eyer thereafter, until otherwise provided by law, tour mills on the state of the year 1843, and for year thereafter, with all the stripus money in the treasury, after paying the expenses of the government, shall be set apart and sacredly held for the payment of interest on the public debt, and shall be called the "Interest Fund." Out of this lund, the Governor, on the first day of July 1836, is to pay one per cent, each all the shalls be done of the strength of the interest, the remain ler of the interest, the state is tissee "State Serie," to be paid in fand, belonging to the state; the remain ler of the interest, bond holder shall receive the one per called the one there were the sond holder shall receive the one per called the father provides, that no bond holder shall receive the one per called the one per called the one that the sond is the state.

state, the remain let of the interest, the state is to issee "State Exergin" to be paid in fand, belonging to the state."

This bill further provides, that no bond holder shall receive the one percentum in cash, unless he will also receive the free per centum in cash, unless he will also receive the free per centum in cash. We will also receive the free per centum in Land Serip.

Now sir, this looks very plausible, but, let me for a moment apply the pruning knife, to this great discovery of the mode and means of paying the interest on the state debt.

This individually the state of t that shall be conveyed to the state for a year, and if at the expiration of one year, and if any the shall feet, our in any wise conceal or essist and state that any years hall feet, our in any wise conceal or essist and state that any years hall the state he shall on conveition, be sent to the state prison, for a term not exceeding five years.

From this, you will perceive the increase of the free institutions of ever any against the state of the free institutions of ever any against the state of the free institutions of ever any against the state of interest of the free institutions of ever any perceived in the state to six per cent, and fixing least ye regulates on all usary. The same bill also reduces the interest of the means of education, in state, reducing the least of interest of the means of education, in the state of the means of education, in the state, reducing the interest of the means of education, in the state, reducing the least state, redu in the shores, the following items, turnished by cur exchange papers, are in point.

In Massachuretts in 1843, the amount invested in alms houses was 3357,127, and the nett amount of public expenditure was $286,686.

In the state of New York in 1843, the amber of regular papers supported was $2,754, and the number of temporary papers was $2,047, making the number of papers in all 144. s61, or one to every 18 of the inhabitants. The expenditure for the support of this number of papers in all 145. s61, or one to every 18 of the inhabitants. The expenditure for the support of this number of papers for the year 1843, reached the enarmous sum of £592,355, being an increase over the preceding year of $72,989

The cause of this increase of burdens is one that must spread from its very nature, and we at the west cannot long expect to escape its full influence. A similar increase in criminal expenditure may be noted in our cities. We can afford to be, indebted to Europe for the arts of civilization brought to us by her intelligent and industrious citizens, but we desire not the importation of the means of their destruction, nor do we need foreign examples in crime and demoralization.
