How high, how great, the gloinous Power.

That, bade shees silvery dew-drops fall:

That touched with bloom the folded flower!

And yent the blue sky over all!

I love to glide in these will hours, I love to glide in these still hours,

With heart, and thought, and fancy,
When nought but jutr, and waves and flot
May give me their sweet company!
When far below the waves outspread
Glide safely on with liquid hier;
When winds are low—and skies o'erhead
Are beaming bequifuely thee.
