Thy neighbor! "Tis the weary man,
Wh so years are at the brim,
Bent low with sickness, cares, and pain;
Go thou and contort him.

Thy neighbor! 'Tis the heart bereft.

Ofer ty earthly gem;

Widow and orphan he pless left;

Go thou and shelter them.

Thy neighbor! Yonder to ling slave,
Fut eved in thought and limb,
Who e thoughts are all beyond the grave;
Go thou and ransom him.

Wh ne'er thou meet'st a human form Less favored than thine own,
Remember, 'I's thy neighbor worm,

Every possible variety of color, texture, and material, and the greatest magnificence of embroidery and jewelled decornion consistent with propriety were brought to bear on the quaint and antiquointed costume of the period, and the result was harmony and unity of effect perfectly surprising. The Queen and Prince Albert entered the ball-room at 10 o' clock. Her Majesty and the royal family having taken their usual stations at their platform, the dancing commenced with a golonaise, danced by the Queen and Prince Albert, the Duke and Duchess de Neumours, followed by their distinguished guests.
The dance extended through all the state, apartments, all bands striking up the same tune. After the dance the assembled company passed slowly before the Queen.

At twelve o'clock the Queen and Ar the assembled company, passed slowly before the Queen.
At twelve o'clock/the Queen and her illustrious guests passed to supper, which was served as usual, in the great dining room, in a style of royal splendor.

Calcuta 23d April.

The Rajah, Goolab Singh, who figured so conspicuously in the affairs of the Punjaub, had surrendered busself into the hands of the Sirdar, Juwahn Singh; and unless the Bance, whose intrigues have had much influence over the Rajahwa ac trans, succeeds in protecting him, her brother, the Sirdar, will assuredly pulmin to death.

In Science, all was quiet; and Sir C. Napier had arrived in Kurachee. The Brish troops were assembling in considerable numbers on the banks of the Suter; but it was expected that a freaty would be proposed to the King of Lahrer prort on hostile attack on the Punjaub.

The Affghams are preparing to invade Peshawur, under Mahomed Akthor Khan.

Peshawur, under Mahomed Akhbar Khan.
The news from China is to the 8th of March, but is of little interest. Gover-toor Davis, while on a visit of Macco, had been attacked by some Chinesu footpads, who got him down, and were proceeding to 8trp h.m. when they were scared away by the appearance of some Portuguese gratteness of the place.
